VOLUME XXXVIII

Two Men Make an Ideal Home.

The best housekeeper in town. That is what every woman with a home aspires to be. Recently we were in the house of one of the best.

"Is it I?" "Is it I?" we can hear the Norway women say in their minds when they have read so far. No it was not a woman at all.

Have you ever visited Allard & Moulton's new house on Pike's Hill? By the way, the housekeeping is not the main branch of their business.

These gentlemen have chosen to live a bachelor life and a few years ago having become tired of boarding, they concluded to build them a house.

Two tables were set and other groups picked from baskets. They had no set program, neither literary efforts, but all ate, drank (lemonade) and were merry.

The grange went by special invitation from Brother and Sister A. P. Farnham, to a basket picnic at Farnham's cottage.

The day was perfect and about 250 grangers with a few invited guests attended to enjoy the sports of the day, and to sample the baked beans and coffee so generously furnished for all, by the host and hostess. The beans were baked in the ground which was a novelty to many.

Tables were spread for all who wished to use them, but a few felt that it would be more like a picnic to sit on the ground and partake of their goodies from their baskets.

The horribles made their appearance about 11 o'clock a. m., and there was no mistaking what they intended to represent, their garments told that plainly enough, but they were a very civil crowd of horrors and they made a good parade adding much pleasure to the day.

In the afternoon they listened to televisions of the graphophone. Boating was in order during the entire day and many enjoyed a row on North pond for the first time. The cottage and grounds are fine, and Brother and Sister Farnham were untiring in their hospitality, and being very talkative. A game of ball was enjoyed by the young people in the afternoon.

Bertha Mann, who teaches in Lebanon, N. H., is at home.

4th with E. E. Young returned home on Sunday.

The "Norway Bakery" is out with a new cart, a bright yellow body with red wheels.

the circus season strike Maine just as the Fourth had bankrupted him.

Thomas H. Solater of Norway, formerly of the Scottish Clans in the state.

Mrs. Lou M. Ashton of Swampscott, Mass., who has been visiting a few days
Mrs. E. E. Young, has returned home.

Arthur Sanborn caught his left hand in a belt at the shoe shop, Wednesday morning and crushed two of his fingers.

H. B. Esmond, M. D., and mother of Bath, Vermont, are spending a few days as guests at Dennis Pike's, Winter street.

Harry Smith of Lynn, son of the late Ivory Smith, visited friends here recently. He is foreman in a shoe factory in that city.

Thomas F. Harney and family of Lynn, are visiting in town. Mr. Harney for some years lived here and worked for B. F. Spinney & Co.

Morrell N. Packard and wife of Baltimore, Md., are expecting to visit friends and relatives in this vicinity about the middle of next month.

The office of the Dennis Pike Real Estate Agency, No. 4, adds very much to the good of the general good looks of the place.

H. C. Oxnard has moved from his farm in Yaggar to his new home on Crescent street, the late Dr. S. A. Bennett residence. Frank Oxnard has moved from West Medford, Mass., on to the farm.

Sugar and molasses, Almost anything, Just step into the grocery store, This song the clerk will sing. Ham, lamb, sheep and mutton, Anything you will, Just walk into the meat room, This is the song of Bill. We have pork by the barrel, Our meat is kept on ice; The ladies cry, "Oh my, Mr. Smith, Did you know I had lost my key?" Our oil comes by the barrel, Our flour comes the same, We have about all the trade in town, And we are not to blame. We have everything that's wanted, So you can see at a glance That we will run another year, Regardless of the chance. Love, Me. ANNA SMITH.

Steps to Fortune.

A modest, unassuming young business man, to his great surprise, was recently promoted to a position very much in advance of the one he then occupied. He did not understand what, or where, or how he had prepared himself for such an unexpected promotion. His friends, however, and those who had been watching his career knew that unconsciously he had been preparing for his promotion ever since he took a job as an errand boy in an office. Indeed, if he had had the position to which he has been advanced in mind from the outset, and if every step he took had been adapted toward it, he could not have adopted a more effective means for the attainment of his end.

As a boy, this young employee did not wait to be told things, or to do this or that when it was obvious that it should be done. He found out all he could for himself by observation, by keeping his eyes and ears open, and by being constantly on the alert to increase his knowledge; and he always did whatever he saw needed to be done, without waiting for orders. He did everything that was given him to do as well as he possibly could do it. He did not wait for big opportunities, but found his chance in every little thing that came his way.

In every act he performed he found a chance to be prompt, businesslike and polite. In every letter he wrote he found an opportunity for self-culture, for learning how to be concise and how to express himself in the clearest and purest English. He found an opportunity for neatness and order in filing away papers and in keeping the office clean and tidy. These, remarks the New York Weekly, are a few of the steps which led to his rapid promotion, although when he was taking them he was not conscious that he was laying the foundation of his career broad and deep.

The Planting of the Pine.

White pine is suitable for planting on nonagricultural lands throughout the region. Much of the abandoned farm land in the New England States may profitably be planted with white pine, and the tree is well adapted to burned and cut-over forest lands and to watersheds.

White pine grows best on a fresh, light, deep and sandy soil with a porous subsoil. It will succeed, however, on a variety of soils, from fresh, medium heavy clay and loam to dry sands. It will endure windy and cold exposures, but should not be planted near the sea coast, since it will not endure strong sea breezes.

Plantations of white pine are best established by the use of 3-year-old transplants. The trees should be planted 6 feet apart each way. They may be planted either pure or in mixture with shade-enduring hardwoods or conifers. It is essential, however, that the associated species should be of slower growth, since otherwise they will overtop and kill the planted pine. There are also certain light-demanding species of rapid growth which may be mixed with white pine. These, while they may that its development will not be retarded.

The more important species for planting in mixture with white pine are spruce, red oak, and sugar maple. Ordinarily, white pine and the associated species should be planted alternately, so that the white pine will make up half the stand. In mixture with chestnut and European larch, however, white pine should constitute at least two-thirds of the stand.

Commercial plantations of white pine should be cut when from 40 to 70 years old. At this time the trees will be from 50 to 80 feet high and from 12 to 18 inches in diameter. The larger trees will furnish saw timber, while the bulk of the plantation will find ready sale as wooden ware, and straight cooperage. When there is a demand for small material, the stand may be profitably thinned at the age of 20 to 30 years.

Because of its thin bark young white pine is very susceptible to injury by fire. Between the fifth and twentieth years, however, the greatest cause of injury to the white pine is the weevil, which, in the grub stage, mines in the terminal shoot and causes a crooked stem. Repetited attacks make the tree unmerchantable.—[Department of Agriculture.]

PARIS HILL.

Good Time on the Hill
The glorious Fourth passed very quietly with little noise or ruckus such as has been witnessed at in the past. All the racket which usually takes place the night before was over by ten o'clock and there was no bell ringing or gun-firing till morning. The boys of course had lots of noise bottled up for the night. This was a great kindness from the boys and everyone appreciates the act.

In the morning there was a band concert on the common at 9.30. The Cadet Band furnishing music both for the concert and the exercises which followed. At 10.30 the people gathered under the trees in front of the Baptist church where the literary program was carried out. E. M. Atwood as chairman called on Rev. Mr. Ames of Boston to offer the opening prayer.

Mr. Atwood then introduced F. O. Case who read the Declaration of Independence. Rev. C. A. Kilditchcock of Arlington, Mass., pastor of Paris Universalist church, followed. He spoke of the significance which the noise of the bells, guns and horns gives the day.

"On the whole, perhaps," said he, "I would be willing to suppress the horns as having no real meaning unless it is that some of our ancestors lost fish."

The noise should be allowed and encouraged as a means of setting the day apart from the routine of the year.

Mr. Kilditchcock was followed by Rev. Charles Gordon Ames, D. D., of the Church of the Disciples, Boston. He spoke of the need of intelligent and honest work to raise the standard of life and patriotism. There is nothing more for people than ignorance, which is another name for Satan.

The last speaker of the day was Rev. Alexander Mann, Rector of Trinity church Boston. He spoke of the American idea as exemplified by the gathering on the green. Nowhere else in the world, save in America, would you find a hundred or more people gathered quietly, orderly, dignified, with no need of police or surveillance of any kind. He compared the Columbian Exposition and about one guard to 600 people to a like gathering in London and Paris, in the latter place one to about ten men.

Space forbids the full report of these speeches which were good from beginning to end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bonney came to Fred Bonney's last week, Wednesday afternoon. Harry is a half brother of Fred. For four years he was motorman in Boston but the strain of long and broken hours was too much for his health, and for about six months he has been suffering with a brain trouble. The doctors gave him little encouragement, but sent him into the country. He hopes that the quiet of the country might be beneficial. Wednesday afternoon he went for a bicycle ride and was headed towards Penley's grove. Late Thursday night he returned in an ambulance, with a broken bicycle. He was unable to tell where he had been, but it seems most probable that he went in search of some pond lilies which he saw growing about two miles below Mechanic Falls a few days before.

About the usual racket was made here, "the night before the Fourth."

The rope of the Methodist bell was pulled up so it couldn't be rung, but the Congregational bell and the school bell were fairly well worked, and quite a lot of gun-powder was burned. A big fire was burned in the yard of the brick school house, and more or less good barrels and other movable property went up in that.

At the farm of F. E. Buckat Elm Hill, July 4th, was the most pleasant family reunion. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. E. The report of the water committee was made by chairman Geo. H. Davis of the corporation assessors and consisted mainly in reading the proposition submitted by the Norway Water Co. just before the first of April. The price named in this, as is generally known, is $42.50 per hydrant for fire service, and ten cents per thousand gallons for park and street sprinkling, for a twenty-year contract.

After some informal discussion the report was laid on the table. The matter relative to the water from Hall pond was taken up and George R. Morton gave such information as he could. A motion was made and carried that a committee of seven be appointed to employ an engineer and make full investigation of the well has been found necessary to this committee Geo. R. Morton, John A. Scott, A. E. Shurtliff, John J. Emery, W. B. Young, Charles W. Bowker and Arthur E. Forbes.

GREENWOOD.

July 4.

The Fourth was a great day for Greenwood and the program carried out was successful in every respect. From the time the fantastics started the parade at eight o'clock until the end of the ball game the spectators enjoyed every moment. The program included a 150 yard dash, sack race, potato race and walking the greased pole with a fine Plymouth rooster as a prize.

At noon the ladies served a picnic dinner in Geo. Cole's grove and after that the crowd adjourned to the ball ground where two games were played. Greenwood lost to Patch Mountain in the first game by the score of 13 to 8, but won against Yaggar in second by a score of 16 to 6. It is estimated that over 400 people were present and the ball club from proceeds of sale of refreshments and confectionary netted over twelve dollars.

Patch Mountain defeated Greenwood City in a game of base ball, Thursday afternoon, July 4 on the home grounds.
In the parade the Patch Mountain boys were represented as dummies after the game. They came to the conclusion they were not as near dead as they represented them to be.

completed her term of school at the City. This is the second school in number of standing pupils in town, having 21 registered with an average attendance of 25. Pupils not absent one-half day: Viva Yates, Leo Cole, Ruth Cole, Bertrice Coburn, Florence Whitman, Henry Walker.

Several deer have been seen in this vicinity during the past week. In one instance at least they have done considerable damage to growing crops. We do not know the law regarding the killing of game animals that forage on farmer's crops but understand the farmer has a right to protect his property, provided he notifies the game commissioner and does not make use of the animal for food. If it is necessary to kill why not eat instead of waste?
